Standing in Support of Miller's Organic Farm

Lancaster, PA, August 18, 2022 - The Tim McMaster campaign announces support for Miller's Organic Farm (Miller's Farm) and Amos Miller of Bird-in-Hand, Pennsylvania. The United States District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania (PAED) has recently escalated infringements and injustices against Miller's Farm. Tim McMaster denounces, in the strongest possible terms, the actions undertaken by PAED and extends his support for voluntary commerce, including trade involving food and agriculture products.

For nearly 30 years, Miller's Farm has been providing fresh organic food and milk products to their community via a nearly 4,000-person buying club. The club members patronized, purchased, and consumed the products of Miller's Farm voluntarily. Yet the United States government has engaged in aggression against the farm.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) et al. have waged war against Miller's Farm for half a decade, all due to the misguided belief that the USDA has the right to tell agricultural producers and consumers what they may produce and purchase. Currently, the U.S. government is seeking over $300,000 in fines and exploring the incarceration of Amos Miller.

"All for the crime of offering an alternative to the 'Factory Farm' system," said McMaster. McMaster continues, "I am also a small-scale farmer. So, the overreach in the case [] against Miller's Organic Farm and specifically Amos Miller [], strikes me [personally]."

Tim McMaster stands by Amos Miller and Miller's Farm and will fight for their right to produce food sought out by the public and a healthier and safer alternative to the monstrous factory farms. The campaign requests that others also consider supporting and if possible donating to, Miller's Farm.
